ROWING DOWN THE AA

01 october

1 day / 22 km

REQUIRED LEVEL

ROUTE

Going down the Aa will take you on a 22km long trip from Houle to Gravelines. In order to ensure the launch and limit the route to the wider part of the canal the departure will take place on the Houle, and then reach the Aa in Watten. You will really enter the little coastal river winding in the northern countryside. Numerous birds such as ducks or herons will accompany you along the way.

It is then the small village of Saint-Nicolas where the rowers pass under a bridge levis to reach, a few kilometers away, the last bridge levis to the place called «the small fisherman».

Bistade Bridge will rise up at the sound of horns to let boats pass and please the occasional walkers who run to see the show. The arrival takes place near Gravelines rowing club where you will enjoy a well-deserved meal. Each participant will receive a small gift.

SIGHTSEEING

The Aa descent is the northernmost tour of France. The «Nord» is famous for its traditions and warm welcome, and the organizers are looking forward to showing you the beauty of their region.
